

IGOR MIROWSKI

My passion for technology and programming has stemmed from my previous role in the finance industry, where I had an opportunity to see the application of data and how it can be used in the world of technology.

This sparked me into teaching myself the basics and building foundation from online resources like Codecademy and W3Schools. During my spare time, I love to keep myself fit by going to the gym and running. I love to travel and experience new places. I am open and excited for new things that may come into my life and career.

SUMMARY

I am a graduate from Queen Mary University with 2 years' experience in Business and Management. I am currently training as a tech trainee with futureproof towards my career change into tech industry.

Looking for an opportunities where I could build strong foundation of programming knowledge with the support of professionals.
